

GARDENING JOBS- JUNE

19 May, 2020

1. Planting out

Planting out warm season, tender plants such as runner beans, french beans, pumpkins and squashes- these should have been started in pots indoors for planting out.

Don't forget about plants such as Tomatoes or Aubergines. These can be planted outdoors if you have a very sunny and warm location i.e a south wall or a sheltered and sunny patio / garden and make sure it's really good soil you plant them in or a good sized pot. When planting out make sure to try and avoid doing it in the height of a very sunny and dry day, instead leaving it for the evening or early morning and giving a very good watering in.

2. Harvesting

Peas sown in February - April will be ready to harvest now along with Spinach. Salad crops will also be continuing to be harvested. If you planted any first-early potatoes then they should be ready at the end of the month next. Broad beans should be ready for harvest also. If you haven't sown anything yet then don't worry there's still loads of time to do things!

3. Successional sowing Plants such as carrots, radish, lettuce and spring onions can all still be sown for a quick harvest. If you want some plant specific Grow guides or if you want to learn more about successional sowing these are also on the website.

4. Watering

Make sure to prioritise anything that has been recently planted also make sure that when you do water it's not just a small bit of water. Give plants a good soaking as this will promote deep rooting.

5. Feeding

Fruiting plants need a high potash fertiliser, especially tomatoes. Making sure to do this regularly will give more flowers and more tomatoes.
